Objectives of the Ten Thousand Villages Society

- To seek to bring justice, hope and peace to the poor;
- To trade with artisan and producer groups who pay fair wages and demonstrate concern for their members' welfare;
- To seek to increase local market share for fairly traded products;
- To market quality crafts and products as a means of assisting the employment of financially under-privileged artisans and producers;
- To market products that reflect and reinforce rich cultural traditions, that are environmentally sensitive, and which appeal to local consumers;
- To encourage our customers to learn about fair trade and to appreciate artisans' cultural heritage;
- To use resources carefully and value volunteers who work in our store; and
- To use monies accrued above costs for projects in support of other non-profit organizations having similar objectives.
